ALL WORK
SUSPENDED
BY MINERSOver 400,000 Men Now
Idle in the Coal Fields

DUE TO WAGE TROUBLES

May Only be Out Short Time Until Agreement is Reached With Operators.

Scores of thousands of coal miners quit work in the anthracite fields of Pennsylvania and other central competitive districts of the bituminous portion of the industry. Officially the cessation is a suspension of work, but whether it develops into a widespread strike depends upon the miners' vote within the next few days. No definite agreement is in sight, for the hard coal men and bituminous men do not seem certain. The men are to take a referendum ballot at once as to whether they will return to work on the compromise.

In West Virginia and Kentucky, where union labor is utilized, no suspension is on and no trouble is expected unless a strike develops. Approximately 400,000 men are affected, and 300,000 are awaiting developments. At least 30 days will pass before the mines can be opened and work resumed; 10 days of this time will probably see the completion of the fuel supply for the industries of all kinds. Should a strike be called, much suffering would come to the families and dependents of the miners. While the unions are well equipped for the strike pay, the nonunion men will receive no compensation from the organization and they will suffer the most.

Indianapolis, April 1.—No anthracite or bituminous coal will be taken from the mines of the country today by union miners, as a result of the suspension, which went into effect at midnight last night, due to wage troubles. More than 400,000 miners, about 150,000 in the anthracite field and 250,000 in the bituminous, will take a vacation, which probably will last only a few weeks. Different from a strike, the miners will leave pump men and other at work to protect the mines from flooding or other trouble due to a shut-down of the plants.

The bituminous miners will be out only long enough for the wage agreement reached in Cleveland to be ratified by the miners by a referendum vote, as it is believed the agreement will be sanctioned by a large majority of the men.

The suspension in the anthracite mines will be of longer duration, as no agreement has yet been reached between the miners and operators. After negotiations were broken off in New York on March 13 between the anthracite miners and operators nothing was done toward getting together again until Saturday, when both sides agreed to meet in Philadelphia on April 10 and reopen negotiations.

Ballots for the referendum vote by the bituminous miners, it is said, will be sent out from the national miners' headquarters in this city as soon as the national president, John F. White, and the other officials return from Cleveland. It will take more than two weeks to take the vote, as not all of the locals meet every two weeks. Then it will require some time to canvass the vote, so the bituminous miners are not expected to resume work much under a month.

Now that the illuminous miners and operators have agreed on a wage contract for the next two years, it is believed the anthracite controversy will soon be settled when the miners and operators get together in Philadelphia. The demands made by both branches of the coal miners were somewhat similar and it is thought the anthracite forces will compromise on practically the same terms as have been agreed to in the bituminous industry.

The suspension does not affect all of the miners in the South, as the union is not so strong south of the Ohio river as it is in the Northern states. The miners of Wyoming, Washington, Colorado and Montana also will not be affected because the union contracts in those districts do not expire April 1.

It is said the miners will lose $1,000,000 every day they remain out and that the suspension will cause a loss in coal production to the country of nearly 424,000,000 tons a month.

No formal order was issued by President White for the miners to leave work, as the suspension was automatic, since the miners had no agreement to work after midnight last night, when the contract made two years ago expired.

PROGRESS BEING MADE

In Ohio Governor's Candidacy for
the Presidency—Plans Nation-Wide Campaign.

(By Ohio State Journal Staff Cor.)

Washington, April 1.—Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio, presidential aspirant, came to Washington Sunday and was fairly swamped by his friends and political workers. Incidentally the campaign managers of Governor Woodrow Wilson seized upon the occasion to publish a statement reciting Harmon's controversy with Mayor Baker of Cleveland and telling how hard Baker is working to secure anti-Harmon delegates from Ohio to the Democratic national convention.

The following is a part of the statement issued at the Woodrow Wilson headquarters:

"Mayor Newton D. Baker, of Cleveland, known nationally as the political heir of Tom L. Johnson, has repudiated the presidential candidacy of Governor Harmon and declared for the nomination of Governor Woodrow Wilson. Mayor Baker, who is at the head of the Cuyahoga county Democratic organization and a member of the Ohio Democratic state central committee, has signed a Wilson petition for the state-wide presidential primary, the result of which will control the selection and inauguration of the Ohio delegates at large to the national convention. Further, Mayor Baker has announced his candidacy as a Wilson delegate. The bolt of Mayor Baker is considered in Ohio as the hardest blow the Harmon candidacy has received in the governor's home state."

Harmon is to present to the supreme court today the petition of governors of states for permission to file a brief in the Minnesota state cases. He was met by Senator Pomerenne of Ohio, Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska and Democratic members of Ohio's congressional delegation. He spent much of the day in the Harmon headquarters, where he was interviewed by newspaper and magazine men, photographed, and submitted to liberal questioning as to the political situation.

"I have believed from the beginning of the campaign that the Democratic party is bigger than any one man or any half dozen men," said Governor Harmon in an authorized interview given out at his headquarters last night, and that when the convention sits at Baltimore it will consider primarily the best interests of the party and will draft a platform and name a candidate solely with a view of meeting the approval of the American people at the polls next November.

"That a considerable number of my friends should regard me as an available candidate for the presidency is a source of great satisfaction to me."

Governor Harmon was joined in Washington by Adjutant General Weybrecht of Ohio, a leading figure in his campaign, and former Representative R. B. Gordon, manager of his Washington campaign headquarters. Last night Governor Harmon was the guest of Senator Hitchcock at dinner. He will address the National Press Club this afternoon and will leave Washington tonight. He declined to comment upon the action of William J. Bryan in announcing that he would not serve as a delegate at-large from Nebraska if the state endorsed Governor Harmon's candidacy.

Governor Harmon's managers and friends are saying that his presidential campaign has been given a decided impetus as a result of his visit here at this time.

E. R. Bacon, a prominent attorney of New York, who has been one of Governor Harmon's intimate friends for years, was at the Hitchcock dinner last night and it is understood that at a conference following the dinner plans were made for a more aggressive campaign from now on until the Baltimore convention. The Harmon people believe that Governor Wilson has been whipped to a standstill, and they are now planning a nation-wide campaign for a man that they believe will make Harmon the leading candidate when the convention is opened at Baltimore.

Governor Harmon held a conference with a number of Democratic leaders of the District of Columbia. The Wilson and Clark supporters are making a hard fight for the six delegates from the district, and there is a third faction that is standing for uninstructed delegates. It is probable that the Harmon forces will unite with this third faction.

A report was circulated here today that William Jennings Bryan had

"FIDDLING BOB" TAYLOR DIES
SUNDAY IN WASHINGTON AS RESULT OF AN OPERATION

Washington, D. C., April 1.—Robert Love Taylor, senior United States Senator from Tennessee, "Fiddling Bob" to all the South, died here yesterday, unable to withstand the shock of an operation for gall stones performed last Thursday.

Early Sunday morning the senator began to fail to respond to stimulants. Mrs. Taylor, worn out by a day and night vigil, had gone to her apartments. At 3 o'clock in the morning the senator began to sink so rapidly that she was sent for. She was at his side when the end came at 9:40 o'clock.

"Fiddling Bob" Taylor, so known because he played his way into the hearts of his audiences, carrying his violin wherever he campaigned, was 61 years old. He was born at Happy Valley in East Tennessee, but spent most of his life at Nashville practicing law. He belonged to an office holding family. His father was a representative in Congress and commissioner of Indian affairs, and an uncle was in the Confederate senate.

Once pension agent at Knoxville, three governor of Tennessee, from 1887 to 1891, and 1897 to 1899, Senator Taylor forked his way to the national house of representatives from the same congressional district that had previously sent his father to Congress and later his brother Alfred A. Taylor, whom he subsequently defeated for governor.

Senator Taylor was a Cleveland Democrat. He had served in the senate since 1907, his principal activity being in behalf of a comprehensive system of good roads and the lakes-to-the-gulf deep waterway project. His last speech in the senate last July was made in advocacy of the Confederate monument bill. His appearance in the senate chamber was a fortnight ago.

Senator Taylor is survived by his wife, a son, David Taylor, and three married daughters in Tennessee. He was stricken March 15 at the Union Station as he was about to board a train for North Carolina. He was

The Whole World Is to Participate In the Great San Francisco Panama-Pacific Exposition In 1915

By HAMILTON M. WRIGHT.

THE whole world is interested in the opening of the Panama canal and in the great international fete at which the United States will celebrate the completion of the canal, the Panama-Pacific International exposition, to be held in San Francisco in 1915.

The proclamation of the president, issued by authority of congress, has been delivered through the instrumentality of the department of state to every quarter of the globe. Inquiries as to the exposition are pouring in upon the exposition management from all parts of the world. The nations of the world in recognition of America's great bay are Messrs. McKim, Mead & White of New York, designers of Madison Square Garden, the Boston Public Library, the Agricultural building at the World's Columbian exposition; Thomas Hastings, president of Carrere & Hastings, architects in chief for the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo; Henry Bacon, designer of the Lincoln memorial; Willis Polk, associated with D. H. Burnham of the World's Columbian exposition at Chicago. These architects and their associates pronounce the site of the exposition as unsurpassed for a great maritime celebration. The exposition structures will be the largest and costliest ever erected for a world's exposition

At the junction of these two streets will be erected a civic center. The buildings in this architectural group will cost close to $9,000,000. The nucleus of the civic center will be a new city hall to take the place of the one destroyed in 1906. The exposition authorities have voted the sum of $1,000,000 for a great auditorium to accommodate visitors to conventions during the exposition. A great opera house will be erected by private capital at the civic center, and the famous singers of the world will be heard in San Francisco in exposition

NERVOUS, DEBILITATED AND RUN-DOWN

Either the Best Cure or Tona Vita Will Build You Up Again.

If you are nervous, debilitated, and run-down in health, there are two things you can do to bring back your strength and vitality. You can go to a sanitarium and take the rest cure or you can secure the great modern tonic "Tona Vita" and let it build you up and furnish new nourishment for your shattered nerves.

If you knew what wonderful results have been accomplished by "Tona Vita" since physicians first introduced it in this country you would much rather take this tonic than to go to any sanitarium on earth. Here is a statement from Mr. J. B. House, of 331 Twentieth avenue, Milwaukee, Wis., who has tried "Tona Vita": "I was all run down, intensely nervous and suffered with the most violent headaches. I felt tired and dull all day, my body seemed benumbed at times, and I did not sleep well. My digestion was imperfect and I was continually constipated. As soon as I ate anything my stomach filled with gas and I was distressed for a half hour or more. My mind was dull and my memory very poor. I contracted a cold easily and suffered with severe coughs. Some time ago I talked with a physician who advised me to take "Tona Vita." I did it and am glad I did for the medicine was wonderful in my case. I feel as though I had a new lease on life. My ambition has returned as well as my strength and energy.

"I now sleep well and get up in the morning feeling cheerful and ready for work."

"My wife was also run down and nervous. She started taking the medicine when it began to help me. Her improvement has been fine and she is now in good health."

If you are run down and haven't enough strength to do your own fault if you feel miserable a day longer, when you can get such a preparation as "Tona Vita."

R. F. Collins, 27 North Third street, is agent for Tona Vita in Newark, O., and will refund the purchase price if it is not entirely satisfactory. The Apotrope sleep well. My digestion was improved. Formula Co., Dayton, O.

THE NEW SAN FRANCISCO, LOOKING OVER THE CITY TO THE HARBOR, SCENE OF THE PANAMA-PACIFIC INTERNATIONAL EXPOSITION IN 1915.

achievement at Panama are preparing for participation in the exposition upon a more comprehensive scale than any of the greatest of former world's expositions.

The foreign nations will be represented by the finest assemblage of displays that the world has seen. The strange tribes and peoples of Pacific ocean countries will participate in a wonderful week's festival in which the nations of the orient will take part. The most marvelous parades ever witnessed will be seen on the streets of San Francisco.

The commonwealths of the United States, each of which as a member of the Union has taken its part in the building of the canal, will be represented by the most magnificent state displays ever assembled. California has dedicated more than $20,000,000 to the nation's fair, and the city of San Francisco, the west and the nation are co-operating to render the exposition one that will express in every way the pride and patriotism of the American people.

The Panama-Pacific International exposition will be the greatest exposition in the history of the world. A notable commission of architects of national reputation is engaged upon the plans, and within a few weeks first construction work will begin, when grading of the site and the building of a sea wall, which will serve in part as the basis of a magnificent esplanade along San Francisco harbor, commences.

Among the noted architects who are designing the wonder city which will rise from the shores of San Francisco and will be visible in detail to passengers on ships entering the Golden Gate.

The site of the exposition takes every advantage of the combination of harbor and hills that give San Francisco its chief charm. The main features of the exposition will be located at Harbor View, on San Francisco bay midway between the ferry building and the Golden Gate, and the permanent buildings to remain after the exposition is over will be erected in the west end of Golden Gate park, which fronts on the Pacific ocean. These sites and intermediate locations will be connected by a marine boulevard that sweeps from Harbor View through the Presidio to the Golden Gate and then turns south to Golden Gate park. A trackless trolley will take visitors over this magnificent scenic boulevard from Harbor View through the military reservation at the Presidio, where the government is planning a wonderful military display, to Golden Gate park, and one admission will include entrance to both features. The site expresses the maritime character of the great celebration. In harmony with the exposition San Francisco itself will be an exposition city in 1915. The parks and water front of the city will be improved at an expenditure of millions of dollars, and the ferry building, the main entrance to San Francisco, will be adorned with a grand court of honor. Market street and Van Ness avenue, the two main thoroughfares of San Francisco, each running from the bay and meeting in a V in the heart of the city, will be decorated with days. Great pageants in which the choral societies of foreign countries participate will be held upon the exposition grounds.

The Panama-Pacific International exposition will open with a pageant in San Francisco harbor of the battleships of the navies of the world. The foreign vessels will first assemble at Hampton Roads, where, joined by ships of the American navy, the entire fleet will be reviewed by the president of the United States and foreign dignitaries. This fleet, the largest ever assembled, will then proceed through the Panama canal to the harbor at San Francisco, where it will participate in the most spectacular naval demonstration ever witnessed. San Francisco in 1915 will see the flags of more nations than have ever been brought together in one place at any one time. From unofficial assurances now received it is anticipated that 100 foreign battleships in addition to those of the United States navy will be gathered in San Francisco harbor.

A huge commemorative edifice, in purport like Bartholdi's statue of Liberty, will welcome vessels from afar. The structure, to be known as the St. Francis Memorial tower, will be 850 feet in height, with a base 220 feet square. The shaft will be eighty-five feet square, with corners rounded, and of steel construction and terra cotta veneering. The approximate cost of the tower will be $1,000,000. From its summit the sightseer will look almost straight down upon the waters of the Golden Gate, 1,300 feet below.

The terms of Governor Foss' withdrawal from the Presidential race are curious. He wishes a complimentary vote from his own State, but he doesn't wish to be taken seriously as an aspirant. Mr. Clark does not wish to antagonize any candidate in his own State, so the arrangement has been made that Foss' name is to go on the primary ballots and Clark's will not; but in the convention the Foss
influence will be thrown to Clark.

Spring fever seems to have broken out unusually early this year, and is confined to no country. If Americans are ashamed of the doing at Hillsville
we can feel at least that Paris, with its murders and bandits, and London
with its strikes and window-smashing suffragettes, have no occasion to point the finger of scorn. Apparently the whole world, from China to Rock Island, Ill., is passing through a period of hysteria.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINATION ANNOUNCEMENTS

On Saturday, April 6th, the Advocate will commence the regular announcement of names of Democratic candidates for nominations at the coming primary. The sum of $2 will be charged for the announcement, which will simply give the names of the candidates and the offices they seek. The primary election will be held May 21, according to law. All announcements payable in advance.

Candidates may use the Advocate's advertising columns at the rate of 18 cents an inch, in addition to the announcement above mentioned, if they desire to do so.

THE COSHOCTON DAILY TIMES TO BE A MORNING PAPER

The Coshocton Times, in its Saturday edition, announced that arrangements had been made to change the paper to a morning daily. It is now issued every week day evening, but a growing demand, particularly among its rural subscribers, has prompted the management to enter the morning
field.

This action will place the Times in the hands of its subscribers before noon of the same day it is published.
The change was made because the management believed that the best interests of the Democratic party will be conserved if it is represented by a morning paper.

W. T. Alberson, the veteran editor of the paper, is continually directing his efforts to the best interests of the party with which he affiliates and he will no doubt make the new departure successful. He is one of the party's wheel horses in Coshocton county, as well as one of the recognized leaders of the Ohio Democratic editors. His wholehearted efforts in behalf of his party are much appreciated by the Coshocton county leaders and masses,
and the Morning Daily Times will certainly be a success.

There is a popular impression that every woman looks under the bed at night to see if there is a burglar there. The latest Pittsburg divorce story suggests that there is a good deal more reason why a woman should search her apartment frequently for a dictagraph.

BETTERMENT OF CONDITIONS FOR WORKING GIRLS

The betterment of the social conditions of working girls is contemplated
by an investigation to be made by State Labor Commissioner Fred Lange.
This investigation will also extend to the white slave traffic. The proposed investigation is such a one as has never been attempted by any state thus far. The national government has such investigations on.

Commissioner Lang and the superintendents of the various free employment agencies of the state were in conference to consider the best means to make this investigation. It will be started by the employment of a woman
inspector, who will devote all her time
to getting the information necessary.
The first work will be done in Columbus.

"We will co-operate with charitable and other organizations that are working to accomplish what this investigation purposes to do," said Commissioner Lang. "Our woman inspector will visit and talk with working girls
and find out just what the conditions are under which they are employed.
This is a big proposition and we realize it, but we intend to try to do something that will be of real service.
Backed by the state, we think we can do something effective."

THE TEDI OUS GUEST.

Around Spring's house old Winter lingers, and makes himself a bore, nor needs when with suggestive fingers she motions to the door. She hints that he should be departing; he takes his chapeau then and makes a sort of bluff at starting, but he comes back again. He's like so many guests we wot of; they're welcome when they come, and every cheerful plan is thought of to make them feel at home; but when the time has come for going, we hint and yawn in vain;
they lean back in their rockers, showing that they're bound to remain. They hear the clock the late hours striking, but stick tight to their chairs, and never show a sign of hiking until old age is theirs. We'd love Brer Winter, with good reason, if he would come on time,
and rant through his appointed season, and scatter snow
and rime, if, having shown his line of weather and sleep
from day to day, he got his cheap old traps together and chased himself away. But when he hangs around Spring's cottage with dotard's smile and beck, we feel that some one versed in swattage should swat him in the neck.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

By O. Terrence.

WORLD'S BRIGHTEST BOY BORN APRIL 1.

I once knew a congenial idiot whose name was William Wise. The tallest man I ever knew was a fellow by the name of Short. Therefore I am not surprised to learn that the brightest boy in the world was born on the first of April, 14 years ago today.

William James Sidis, the marvel
of prophecy, who, by a curious freak
of fate, was ushered into the world
on the festival day of fools, first evidenced his superior wisdom in his choice of parents. His father, Dr.
Boris Sidis, is a member of the faculty of Harvard Medical School, and a savant and psychologist whose criticisms of the modern educational systems have lately been given wide publicity. He is a Russian Jew, a native of the empire of the great white czar, who came to America in 1887, when 29 years of age. The mother of the youthful prodigy is a woman of great learning, a graduate of the Boston University Medical School, and holds the degree of M.D.

Dr. Sidis does not believe in forcing the minds of tender children,
but Willie Sidis needed no admonitions to study. Between the ages of one and two he learned to read; at three could write on a typewriter,
and at four had mastered the contents of weighty books and could repeat such passages as pleased him.
When only six he passed the entrance examination of Harvard Medical School. Mathematics early claimed his attention and by the time he was nine he had become an expert astronomer. At that age he could also speak half a dozen languages and had invented a new "universal language" of his own, which by many linguistic experts has been pronounced equal to Esperanto. At eleven he became a Harvard freshman, a member of the class of '13, the youngest student in the long history of that institution, and astounded the faculty by delivering a lecture on abstruse mathematical subjects connected with the "fourth dimension."

Dr. Sidis believes that in the atmosphere of American freedom his progeny will blossom forth with the fruit of the accumulated intellect of generations of his ancestors, whose minds, through oppression, were bar-ren and unproductive. He also holds that the system of education he advocates has had a great deal to do with Willie Sidis' marvelous intellectual attainments, and that any normal boy, trained by the Sidis method, could be fitted to enter college
at eleven.

The first day Willie Sidis attended
public school at Brookline, Mass., the teacher asked him if he could read. He took from his pocket a copy of "Julius Caesar," and recited
an entire scene. The astounded pedagogue almost fainted. Beginning in the first grade at 9 o'clock, at noon Willie was in the third grade. Seven grades in seven months was his record and the teachers wore up in arms. They had prejudices against attempting to teach anything to a savant who clearly knew more than they did. Moreover, little Willie shocked their religious sensibilities
by calmly but firmly insisting upon putting his fingers in his ears during the few minutes set apart for morning prayers. He explained that the God idea was only a relic of superstitious ages, and that sensible people
no longer believed in any supernatural deity. Yet when Willie was asked what living man was his most beloved hero, he replied without a moment's hesitation:
"Hans Wagner."

OUR ATTITUDE TOWARD MEXICO

Only Apparent Reason For Intervention Not Sufficient.

WE'LL GUARD AMERICAN LIVES.

But Not the American Dollars That Were Invested There on a Gamble.
Talk of a Dark Horse in the Republican National Convention.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, April 1.—[Special.]—
While the general staff in the war department continues to plan war in Mexico and as far as possible urge intervention by this government, the administration hesitates to take any such step.

In the first place, there is no such hunger for war in this country as there was after the thirty years' peace following the civil conflict. There is no such sentiment in regard to Mexico and Mexican affairs as there was in Cuba and the fight those people were making for their liberty against a European monarchy.

The Only Reason.

The only reason for intervention is because citizens of the United States have vast interests in Mexico estimated to amount to between a thousand million and seven hundred and fifty million dollars. The American people have never been ready to fight for dollars. The destruction of the millions which went into Mexico on a gamble instead of remaining in this country in legitimate business is not of very much consequence to our people. We know that these millions went there at a time Diaz was supreme, and the probabilities are he got his share for the concessions granted.

It is no part of the duty of the United States government to protect these American dollars which went into Mexico on a chance of reaping rich returns. These men gambled on the stability of the Mexican government.
They took a chance the same as other daring speculators and gamblers.

Of course if the lives of American citizens are in danger that is a different matter. Then the entire resources of the government should be used to protect our people and no doubt will be.

The Flying Wedge.

In battle, politics and football there has been success accomplished by "the flying wedge." Perhaps that accounts for talk of a dark horse in the Republican national convention. Those who look forward in that direction hope that Justice Hughes or some other man will be selected. They fear that the hostilities between Taft and Roosevelt, and more particularly their followers, is going to leave such a wide breach as to make it impossible to elect either of them if nominated. A well organized "flying wedge" with a good candidate might be able to accomplish great results.

Jack and Jim.

John Fitzgerald and James Mann
are the best parliamentarians in the house. They frequently have sharp contests with each other, and one might suppose they were far from good friends. And yet when they are seen going to luncheon together, one with an arm over the other's shoulder, calling each other "Jack" and "Jim," you can see how men may scrap on the floor of the house and yet be the best of friends.

"Father of the House."

The man longest in continuous service is always called "father of the house." Pennsylvania has had the honor as long as any one can remember. And even now it falls to John Dalzell of that state, who has been elected for thirteen continuous terms.
Uncle Joe Cannon and Sereno Payne have served longer, but their service has been broken. Dalzell has not been displaced since he first entered the house.

John Sharp Illustrates.

An applicant for an office came to John Sharp Williams and made a pretty good case, but the Mississippi senator knew the man. He told him that even if he obtained the position he sought he would not hold it long because of his drinking habits. The man assured the senator that he had reformed; that he was not drinking any more.

"Why," said John Sharp, "you have gone on the water wagon so often and slid off so many times that the tail gate of that wagon is as slippery as an other slide on the banks of the Mississippi river."

Poetry In the Prayers.

Talk about your thirty days of quality; it must be as nothing compared to getting up a new prayer every morning for the house of representatives and the senate. It is worse in the house because they print the prayers in the record every day, and the preacher
feels obliged to have something original, a change of phrase and yet something striking. The prayer cannot be long; it must be forceful and interesting. The blind chaplain of the house has lately taken to quoting a bit of poetry in his prayer, making an innovation and giving the members something different each day. The members no doubt like it, for they all quote poetry when they deliver eulogies over their departed colleagues.

Lancaster, O., April 1. —A new traction line is to be built between this city and Buckeye Lake, passing through Pleasantville. Negotiations have been going on for some time, and Saturday afternoon Treasurer C. M. Electrical and route experts have been over the line at different times in the interest of the money men, and their recommendation for the line has been accepted. Work will begin in a short time.

PLAN TO HAVE SERUM FARM READY SEPT. 1

The Ohio State Journal, yesterday printed a prospective made from the architects' drawings, showing a birds-eye view of the proposed Ohio state serum farm located in Licking county, 13 miles east of Columbus on the National Road.

This plant for the manufacture of hog cholera serum will be the largest of its kind in the world, the result of persistent agitation by the state board of agriculture and Dr. Paul Fischer, state veterinarian, for funds to fight the diseases of live stock.

The serum farm is a 90-acre tract, and about one-fifth is covered with timber as it is the intention to park this and lands are to be constructed in substantial manner of concrete, brick and steel, the principal buildings being absolutely fireproof. The live stock building has sanitary features of interest to anyone interested in the hygienic care of animals.

The hog cholera serum used by the board is the invention of Dr. Dorset of the United States department of agriculture, but many of the applications and extractions are the result of the state veterinarian's experiments. The board has a record of 35,000 animals which have been treated with perfect success. The hog cholera epidemic of 1911 destroyed thousands of animals in Ohio and untold losses to the swine raisers.

As hog cholera germs are dangerous to animal life, great care is maintained in keeping infected animals in strong enclosures. By no possible chance can a rat or dog or small animal gain access to the stock pens, all sewerage is double filtered and all manure is kept in screened bins to avoid the fly nuisance.

The plant has a water supply from deep well sources and a complete water system for domestic and fire uses.

Suitable residences for the employees will be built on the premises, as it is intended to operate the plant on a large scale. The plant undoubtedly will be of great importance to agriculture interests, as it will be operated continuously and open to public inspection.

In order that the hog cholera epidemic can be subdued, the erection of buildings is proceeding at a rapid rate and it is hoped to have the institution completed by September. The plant is under the immediate charge of Dr. Paul Fischer and a corps of pathologists. The plans, construction and supervision is under the direction of Dawson & Holbrook, local architects.

WILL CLEAR NEAT SUM RESULT OF BASKET SALE

The committee of the library has not yet made its report but it is estimated that about $50 will be received by the library as a result of the recent sale of Indian baskets and pictures in the Trust building. HEALTH HINT FOR TODAY.

Cramp During Sleep.
A sufferer from cramp during sleep recommends a remedy. He noticed that he never became cramped, no matter how long he napped, in a reclining chair. This fact, in connection with some physiological considerations, induced him to put into practice the following plan, which has proved decidedly successful: To sleep upon an inclined plane. This is effected by taking care that the bed or mattress should incline twelve inches from the upper to the lower part of the bed, and for this purpose the lower feet were cut down so as to form this inclination.

GOLD DUST makes pot and pan spick and span

Soap and muscle won't clean your pots and pans properly—thoroughly.

Ordinary washing of cooking utensils passes over whole hidden nests of little wigglers—commonly called germs.

Gold Dust is a sanitary washing powder that not only removes the visible dirt and grease, but digs deep after every trace of germ life—sterilizes pots, pans, pails and kettles—leaving them clean, wholesome, safe.

Shake a little Gold Dust in your dish-water and see the startling results.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and 10c size packages. The 10c package means greater economy.

Windle. The committee visited the Masonic Temple, the Elks Home, the Public Library and other buildings. NEW KIMONO WRAP.

The kimono wrap is the latest edict for outdoor wear made by the Parisian fashion arbiters. The model shown is of tan sponge cut kimono style and caught by one button on the left side. Around the sleeves are three rows of drawn ruffles, an inch wide and about three inches apart, headed by a narrow lace. Four rows of the same work are used on the skirt of the wrap, at knee length. The sleeves and bottom of the garment are finished with a narrow hem, beneath which is used a foot wide frieze of soft twisted tassel cord, the ends knotted to form loops. A narrow collar and triangular revers of embroidery in varicolored oriental designs and above are narrow revers of black satin.

THE ONLY SURE RHEUMATISM CURE ON EARTH

If you suffer from rheumatic agony or are tormented by a friend who is tormented, read the following thankful letter, then go to T. J. Evans and get a 50-cent bottle of RHEUMA. He sells it on money back plan.

"One year ago I had a most severe attack of rheumatism, lasting over nine weeks. Two bottles of RHEUMA cured me so completely I have never had the slightest return of the disease. We have a friend, an old lady, living here, who had rheumatism for more than a year, and she too was cured. Her joints were all stiffened and swollen, and she had previously tried everything for rheumatism she had ever heard of." George M. Ross, 303 N. Warren Ave., Saginaw, Mich., July 27, 1911.

RHEUMA starts to drive the uric acid from your system within a few hours after the first dose. It acts on kidneys, stomach, liver and bladder and brings blessed relief in one or two days.

BRONZE TABLET IN MEMORY OF MISS KNIGHT

With appropriate ceremonies on Sunday afternoon the Sunday school of the Second Presbyterian church unveiled a beautiful tablet in memory of Miss Clara Knight for over 50 years a teacher in that Sunday school and an active worker in the church.

Rev. T. A. Cosgrove, pastor of the church, made a short address and Mrs. James E. Thomas, a life long friend of Miss Knight, spoke of the worth of the friend and unveiled the tablet. The memorial is a brass tablet which has been bronzed and embossed on it are these words: "In memory of the late Clara Knight, for 50 years a teacher in the Sunday school 1912." The tablet was hung on the north wall of the Sunday school room and the Sunday school which presented the testimonial was present in a body at its unveiling.

"I have been somewhat covetous but Dean's Negatives gave just the results desired. They act mildly and regulate the bowels perfectly."—George B. Krause, 306 Walnut Ave., Altona, Pa.

HEART AND HOME TALKS BY BARBARA BOYD

Fun For April First.

A LITTLE nonsense now and then is good for the liver, no matter which way you define the word. And as today is a day when nonsense has leave and license to hold sway, even the most dignified can indulge in it without loss of prestige.

For April Fool parties, for friends who may drop in, or even for the home circle, here are some jolly ways to pass the evening.

Greet your guests as they arrive with Merry Christmas, Happy New Year, Many Happy Returns of Your Birthday, or any greeting that is not to the point.

Have cardboard placards over the faces of the clocks, with such apt remarks as "Did you ever get left?" "Sold," and other friendly comment. Arrange one or two seats if possible, so that they will gracefully give way when sat on. Do not fix them so that the sitter will get a bad fall, but let it seem as if his weight is too much for the seat to bear up under. Early in the evening, pass some really good bonbons or fruit. As almost every one present will think these are April Fool candies, few will partake. Those who do will finally convince the others of the genuineness and deliciousness of the candy. Then when passing it the second time, if possible, substitute some real April Fool sweets, with cotton filling, or salt instead of sugar, or other equally delectable ingredients.

A peanut search can be proposed with the apology that it is not exactly new, but lots of fun. Distribute bags, and exhibit some really handsome prizes, as awaiting the one who finds the nut down. After a diligent search for five minutes or so, it will begin to dawn upon the seekers that the hidden nuts have never yet been hidden.

A game that produces a lot of fun is to distribute pencils and paper, and then let each guest take from a basket a slip of paper, upon which is the name of something of which he is to make a drawing. The papers are folded of course, so that no one can see the subject he is getting. State that a prize will be awarded for the best sketch. Upon the various slips of paper may be written such practical subjects as a brood, a sigh, the quiver of an eyelash, a mere whim, flight of fancy, a blood-curdling yell, in echo, and similar topics. A book of nonsense verse is a good prize for the best illustration.

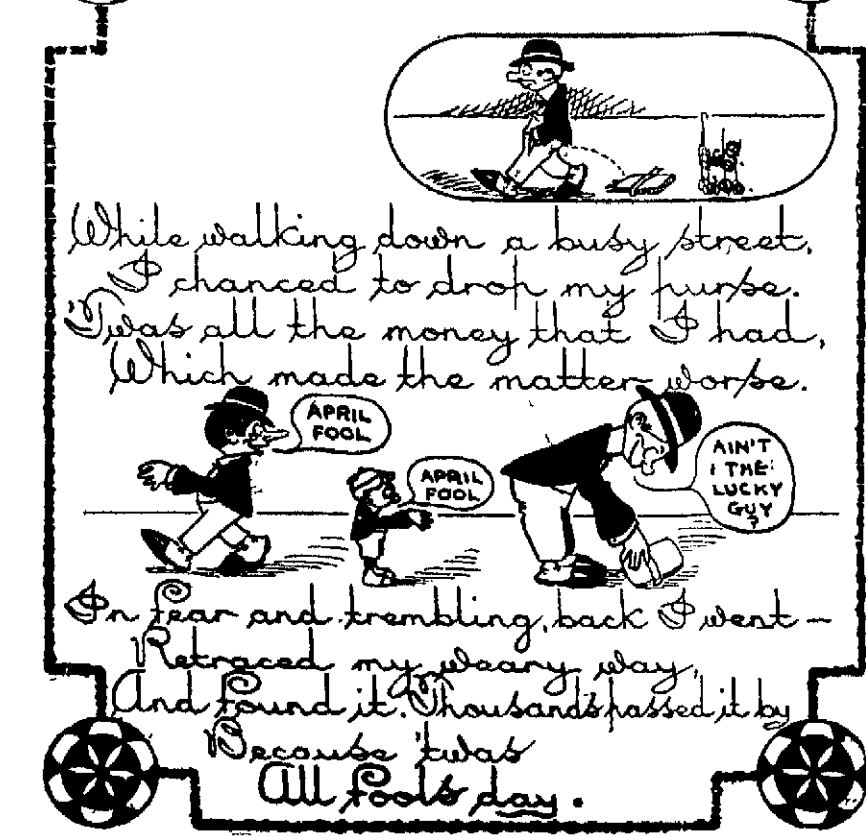

If the home or table is decorated in honor of the day, the more grotesque the decorations, the better. A little bunch of Spring onion in a glass vase, cabbage carefully arranged in a jardiniere, are all appropriate. Feather dusters, whisk brooms, and such things may be placed about as though they were choice bric-a-brac.

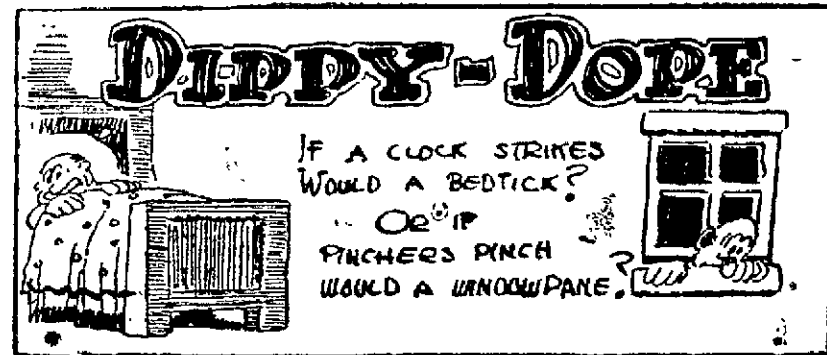

When serving refreshments, everything should be as fantastic as possible. Sugar can be placed in the salt shakers, salt in the sugar bowl, water in the coffee pot, milk in the syrup jug, and so on. Nutpicks can be furnished in place of forks. Little yellow custard bowls can be used instead of cups. Pieces of gay colored cotton stuffs can replace the napkins. And, of course, some April Fool refreshments should be sandwiched in among the genuine eatables. It is easy to make some April Fool cake, to sew up some apples and oranges with thread, or to fill an orange skin with cotton and fix it to look as if it hadn't been tampered with.

In fact it takes very little ingenuity to play a lot of pranks that do no harm, but which create a lot of fun and cause such hearty laughter, that April Fool first is a real tonic in the calendar of days.

Robins Built a Nest
at the Window.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

Why the Little
Robin's Breast
Is Red

JACK and Evelyn eagerly awaited their story. Daddy had promised one about the robin redbreast. Robins were beginning to fly about the house after their winter spent far away. It would soon be time for Mr. Robin to go a-courting and build his nest, so the children were watching him with great interest. A pair of jolly robins had built a nest last year on the branch of the tree just outside their window, and the children had enjoyed themselves greatly in watching Mr. and Mrs. Robin bring up their little family in the nest.

"Little Robin Redbreast likes to make his home near ours because, as a rule, people are kinder to him than to most birds. It is a mean boy indeed who will throw a stone at the cheery little robin," said daddy.

"There is another reason why robins are so well treated. There was an old idea that a robin got that splash of red on his breast owing to his kindness to Christ when he hung dying on the cross.

"When in his great agony of thirst Jesus cried aloud the little robin, who was hovering near, heard the cry and had pity upon him.

"Flying to a neighboring fountain, the bird carried water in his bill to moisten the parched tongue of the sufferer on the cross. Some of the blood that rolled down Christ's face from the wounds where the crown of thorns pierced his forehead splashed over the kind robin's breast.

"The dying Saviour saw the stain and blessed the little bird that had befriended him when every earthly friend had forsaken him. He blessed all robins forever and said:

"Thou and thy kind shall ever wear this crimson badge in token of the mercy that thou hast shown to me and as a pledge that my blessing shall follow those that show mercy unto thee."

"And since then, says the story, all robins' breasts have been red, and a blessing has been with all who have befriended a robin. To hurt a robin was thought to bring bad luck to one, and if robins swarmed about a house and nested near it that household would know health, wealth, happiness and all good things.

"So in old times the robin was unharmed when other birds were hunted and stoned. For this reason robins are still unafraid of human folks and are more friendly than others of their kind.

"Many people believe that robins ought to be shot because they eat some of our cherries and berries. While the robins do like cherries, it is very likely if we had not the robins to eat up the insects that ruin the cherries and the cherry trees we would have no cherries at all."

ETERNITY.

I saw eternity the other night
Like a great ring of pure and endless light.

All calm, as it was bright—
And round beneath it, time, in hours, days, years,

Driven by the spheres,
Like a vast shadow moved, in which the world

And all her train were hurled.

CASCARETS CLEANSE LIVER AND BOWELS

No Biliousness, Headache, Sick, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Coated Tongue or Constipation.

Furred Tongue, Bad Taste, Indigestion, Sallow Skin, and Miserable Headaches come from a torpid liver and clogged bowels, which cause your stomach to become filled with undigested food, which sours and ferments like garbage in a swill barrel. That's the first step to untold misery—indigestion foul gases, bad breath, yellow skin, mental fears, everything that is horrible and nauseating. A Cascaret tonight will give you a thorough cleansing inside and straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box
from your druggist will keep you feeling good for months. Millions of men and women take a Cascaret now and then to keep their stomach, liver and bowels regulated, and never know a miserable moment. Don't forget the children—their little insides
need a good, gentle cleansing, too.

Mr. Skiles III.

The many friends of Mr. Robert Skiles will be sorry to learn that he is seriously ill at his home in South
First street.

Grand Lodge of the L. A. to B. of R. T. at Columbus, Ohio.

up their yards, cellars and garrets.
There's plenty to do. Get busy now.

Closed for Vacation.

All the schools of the city are closed this week for the spring vacation. The public and parochial schools are this year holding their vacations at the same time.

Attention, Drum Corps.

All members of the Old Guard Drum Corps are requested to be present at the meeting tonight at G. A.
R. hall at 7:30 o'clock. Bring instruments for practice. All members must be present.

Condition Improved.

The condition of Mrs. Thad L.
Montgomery of Coshocton is greatly improved. Mrs. Montgomery has been seriously ill for two weeks with tonsillitis and has been at the Coshocton hospital. However, word was received by relatives here yesterday that she was much improved and had been removed to her home.

To Observe Passover.

At sundown tonight will be marked the beginning of the Passover festival, or the feast of the unleavened bread of the orthodox Jews and it will continue until April 9. In Newark tonight there will be special services in the synagogues at the First National Bank and the Jewish people of the city will be present to participate in the beginning of the oldest feast of the Jewish calendar.

Need of a Workhouse.

Speaking of the need of a workhouse in Newark, a city official pointed out the fact to the Advocate today that it had cost the city $18.40 to board one man at the city prison since January 1st. This one man has been arrested several times within the past three months. He, with others sent to the city prison has had nothing to do. If the city had a work house the men sent to prison could be occupied, which would be to their own as well as to the city's benefit.

Cash Was Nailed Down.

Chief of Police Blizard was one of the first to be April fooled today.
He told the story himself. While walking along the street he saw a bright nickel and stooped for it, finding the cash nailed down. Determined to be rewarded, he tugged away and carried off the coin which had been soldered to a steel rod 16 inches long. The chief nailed it in the sidewalk in front of the police station and the men on duty there had a lot of fun watching people try to pick it up. Finally a Western Union messenger boy used the chief's tactics and carried off the prize.

Main street studio I sold to Mr. J. A.

BUILDING A SHIPPING CRATE

To Get Correct Proportion and Still Make It Light Is Matter Requiring Thought and Experimenting.

To build a strong shipping crate in the correct proportion and still make it light in weight is a matter that cannot be carried out without some thought and experimenting and for this reason I have drawn plans and built sample crates in an experimental way until the result is satisfactory to me, and I feel sure will be to those who wish to build crates after this pattern, writes E. F. Barry, in the Successful Farming.

Poultry Shipping Crate.

The drawing will give a correct idea of how to put the crates together and the following lumber bills will if followed give correct results.

The material, if a person is to use any number of these crates of a certain size he can best go to a box factory or mill and have them cut to order.

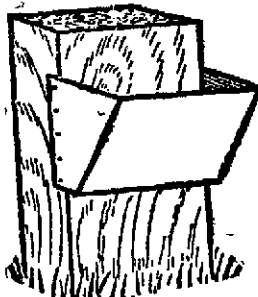

The long stock should consist of boards any length six inches wide by three-eighths inch thick to be used for bottom. Slats any length three inches wide by three-eighths inch thick. Frame stock any length three inches wide by three-fourths inch thick. Common stock spruce surfaced two sides.

It will be found desirable to make three sizes of these crates of a suitable height for broilers and fryers and at least two sizes for mature fowl and for turkeys.

METHOD OF KILLING FOWLS

Neat and Proper Way Is to Clip Head Off of Bird and Place It in Box to Bleed Freely.

The following method of killing fowls is a neat and proper one: Set a square post about two feet in the ground and about two and one-half or three feet (or as desired) above ground, writes J. E. Raiser in the Slaughtering Block.

Farm and Fireside. After clipping the fowl's head off (for this I prefer a corn-cutter or knife to a hatchet or ax), place the fowl in the box, where it will bleed freely. This method, to my notion, is more humane than to have them flopping about on the ground.

POULTRY NOTES

Gather eggs daily. The profits in poultry culture are measured by the care given.

It is useless to expect many eggs from old fowls of any variety.

All scraps of vegetables from the table should be given to the hens.

A poultryman is judged by his surroundings and the condition of his fowls.

Hens need to be provided with a summer dust bath as well as in the winter.

Grit enables the gizzard to prepare the food for digestion. It is a fowl's false teeth.

The droppings-boards should be regularly cleaned and the filth removed from the houses.

It is of little profit to have a good supply of eggs if we cannot market them to advantage.

A large part of the heavy loss from bad eggs can be obviated by the production of infertile eggs.

The market age of goslings is twelve weeks, which is a short time after they have feathered out.

Chickens are creatures of habit. Whether they are lazy or active depends largely on the way they are raised.

The enemies of the fresh egg market are the preserved and the tested out incubator eggs. Be above such trickery.

Guinea fowls do not mate in pairs like pigeons or doves. One male to several fowls is the proper way to mate them.

At the present day many poultrymen grind part of their chicken feed into a meal so it can be fed into either a dry or wet mash.

Any breed of hens will consume an enormous quantity of feed before commencing to lay, but after having once begun will not require so much grain as before.

NEW NEWS OF YESTERDAY

Incident of the Last Illness of General Grant.

On Receiving His First Month's Pay as General on Retired List He Promptly Distributed the Sum Among His Servants.

BY E. J. EDWARDS.

The last official act of President Arthur was the signing of the bill on March 4, 1885, by which General Grant was restored to the retired list of the regular army with the rank of general and with full pay. This made it possible for General Grant, then in his last illness, to rely upon an income of about $10,000 a year, and that was all the income he could look forward to with assurance, for at that time there was no certainty that he would be able to finish his personal memoirs for publication.

About a month later General Grant suffered from the first of several severe relapses, each one of which, it was feared, would terminate his life. He was prostrated by the agonizing pain, and though by sheer force of will he maintained outwardly a wonderful mental composure and moral courage, those about him believed that they detected evidences that the sufferer's stout heart failed him for a time.

Just at this time the morning's mail one day brought him a letter from Washington. With feeble hands, and yet with somewhat eager eyes, he opened the letter. It was found to contain a United States treasury draft for the amount of the first month's payment under the act restoring him to the army on the retired list as general with full pay. The amount was approximately $1,000.

Summoning his friend of many years, ex-Governor Chaffee of Colorado, to his side, General Grant pointed to the draft. Then he wrote on the pad of paper that he kept at his elbow:

"I wish you would take this draft to a banker friend of mine," naming him. "I know he will cash it. And when he has done so I wish you would bring the money to me as soon as possible."

General Chaffee took the draft, saying that he would get it cashed immediately. General Grant smiled up at him in thanks, and then once more wrote on the pad:

"I am sure that my friend will cash the draft, although I have never had any banking dealings with him. Tell him I want it in bills of small denominations. We need the money in the house, and first of all I want to pay the servants what we owe them, for they have been very kind and patient."

When Governor Chaffee appeared before the banker a little later and explained his mission, he was barely able to restrain his tears. It was the most pathetic sight I have ever seen," he said. "There that great man sat, suffering intense agony, and yet his first thought, despite his pain, was for others, his servants. And it was all the more pathetic to me because I have known all along that he has been hard pressed for ready money, but his sense of honor is so keen, and until now he felt so small an assurance that he would be able to repay any debt, that it was useless for me to ask him to accept a loan, however small."

The banker gladly cashed the draft in the manner General Grant had requested, and Governor Chaffee hurried away. Later he reported to the banker:

"When I placed the money in the general's hands, he looked freer from care and worry than he had for weeks. He smiled his thanks to me, and he wrote on his pad that I should thank you most heartily for your kindness. Then he took from the money a sufficient amount to pay the servants what had been owing them for some time and directed that it be distributed among them at once. That act was characteristic of the man—it shined, in a small way, the real nobility of his character."

Greatly to his peace of mind, General Grant a little later received assurances that, in addition to the pension which Mrs. Grant, as his widow, would receive under the act restoring him to the retired list of the army, his personal memoirs would bring so large a sum to Mrs. Grant that the income from it would make her comfortable for life.

Silencers Good and Bad.

The silencer for firearms invented by Hiram Percy Maxim appears to have proved itself a practical proposition and to be growing in use. It is reported from Hartford that a special market has been found for it among target shooters and that shipments are being "made all over the world, recent ones being to the Fiji Islands," etc. There is a sinister connotation to mention of silencers in the Fiji Islands which recalls the fears which were expressed when the invention was first made public that it would lend itself to target practice on human beings. But, however, the use of the invention may develop in connection with firearms, it is at least comforting to learn that a silencer for motorboats and motorcycles has also been invented and that preparation for its manufacture in quantity are now under way. It would be a boon of consequence if the principle could be extended to include a thousand disturbing noises.

Mr. Daugherty also furnished a list of cabooses and conductors, may of whom have passed away, as follows: Caboose No. 1575, C. Smith; 1577, John Caldwell; 1595, Wm. Smart; 1602, A. Knobe; 1603, H. OLD TIMERS ON THE B. & O. YEARS AGO

Number Still in Active Service While Many Have Passed to the Great Beyond.

About fourteen years ago Mr. Charles A. Daugherty, of Alcatraz, Cal., wrote an interesting article of the Square as it appeared twenty-five years previous to that time, he also furnished a list of the old time engines used when air brakes and automatic couplers were a rarity, together with the names of the engineers who pulled the throttle on them. The list was clipped from the Advocate by J. O. Shields, a B. & O. engineer living at 436 East Main street and preserved by him in a scrap book.

The Advocate reprints this list, which will no doubt prove very interesting to a large number of the older men in the B. & O. service. As a number of the men have been killed while on duty or died from other causes the list has been revised to show this. A number of the men have left the service who are still living, but their names are included as interesting railroad history.

Those killed while on duty are: Engine 190, Engineer Gus Dutton; 945, Mio Francis; 949, John Fisher; 955, John Doyle; 968, Thomas Carlson; 970, Thomas Ramsey; 976, James Satterfield; 977, J. Maloney; 984, James Floyd; 985, E. Fryman; 991, F. Atherton; 1002, A. Dennison.

Those dead from other causes are: Engine 226, Engineer William Bowman; 242, A. Duffy; 944, John Crowman; 947, Ed Boyd; 957, William Paul; 960, James Cassidy; 962, Thos. Holmes; 967, J. Collett; 972, John Watson; 986, W. Clark; 987, M. Stankard; 988, W. Adams; 989, P. Tor; 990, John Taggart; 992, W. Core; 995, Thomas Armstrong; 1000, Clem Powell; 1001, James Stewart; 971, James Parks.

Those who are still living, some of whom have left the service are: Engine 227, Charles Bagley; 946, John Bennett; 948, F. Keifer; 950, Al Poundstone; 951, M. Cosgrove; 952, James Shield; 953, James Helms; 954, William Floyd; 956, John Williams; 958, Joe Harris; 959, C. Glenn; 961, William Lemon; 962, B. Reed; 964, S. Higgs; 969, James Robe; 975, F. WHY TRAVEL FOR THIS?

Many people travel to far distant points for a "change of climate" to build up their strength.

Now what does this change of climate do for them? Usually if it does any good at all, its effect is to make you eat more.

But if you need more strength and can't afford the time and expense of travel you need not be discouraged.

A. M. Sturz of Bronx Borough, N. Y., suffered from weak, tender lungs and almost continual headaches for over two months. In a letter she says: "Since I have been taking Vinol, the symptoms of lung trouble have disappeared and I have no more headaches. Vinol has built me up and made me feel even much better than I did before this trouble came on."

Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron remedy without oil, builds you up by making you eat more and digest better. It enriches the blood with tonic iron at the same time. Try Vinol. If it does not benefit you we will give back your money. F. D. Hall, druggist, Newark, Ohio.

PALMS WERE DISTRIBUTED IN CHURCHES

Sunday was solemnized in the Roman Catholic churches throughout the country as Palm Sunday and a general distribution of palms was made. The Episcopal church also recognizes this custom and palm was distributed in many of the churches.

This feast day always precedes Easter Sunday and is in memory of the triumphal procession of the Son of God when his followers spread his path with palm branches.

Next Sunday will be Easter Sunday and it comes the earliest this year for several years past. Easter is a movable feast and may occur any time between March 21 and April 25. By the changing of the calendar in 1582 by Gregory XIII the first Sunday after the full moon immediately following the 21st day of March was designated to be celebrated as Easter Sunday, in commemoration of the resurrection.

GREAT TRIUMPH IN SURGICAL WORLD

Wisdom does not always dwell in great cities and science and learning may have their habitat far from the busy haunts of men. Not long ago one of the greatest of British physicians, visiting the United States, declared that he found the American masters of the healing art, not in New York or Chicago, or San Francisco, but in a hospital in a little Northwestern village. This reminds us that the greatest triumph of medical science in all the ages was due to a country doctor of Georgia, Crawford Williamson Long.

Jefferson, is the county seat of Jackson county, in the northeastern part of Georgia. It is a mere village and was only a speck on the map, when seventy years ago today, March 30, 1842, Dr. Crawford W. Long there performed the first surgical operation without pain to the patient in the history of the world. Anesthesia had been dreamed of since men first began to seek relief from pain and disease, but it had remained for the country practitioner of the Georgia hamlet to realize the dream.

Either was the agency used by Dr. Long, who discovered its possibilities quite by accident. Sulphuric ether was then considered merely a source of amusement and other parties were given at which young people inhaled the gas, and under its influence performed laughable antics. Dr. Long, when a young man, attended one of these "ether socials," and inhaling too much of the gas, stumbled and fell, injuring himself quite severely. He felt no pain at the time, however, and this circumstance led him to believe that ether might be useful in deadening pain during surgical operations.

On March 30, 1842, James M. Venable, a young man of Jackson county, presented himself at Dr. Long's office for treatment for tumors on his neck. He had refused to have the growths removed by the knife, fearing the pain, but on this day Dr. Long suggested that the operation be performed after Venable had placed himself under the influence of ether. The patient consented, and, inhaling the gas quickly passed into oblivion. The keen blade in the steady hands of the trained surgeon performed its work quickly and when Venable came back to consciousness he declared he had not felt the slightest pain, and refused to believe that the growth had been cut out until given ocular assurance. Not long after he had a second tumor removed, also painlessly. Dr. Long announced his epochal discovery to the medical world and slowly it was taken up. Since then the knowledge of anesthesia has made great strides and new and improved methods are constantly being discovered.

History is filled with the exploits of those who have taken human life, and the world is dotted with monuments in their honor. Where is the monument to Crawford Williamson Long, whose word was a surgeon's scalpel and whose tremendous victory was in banishing from the bedside of the sick and suffering the grim specter of agony? There is none unless it is every hospital in the world, where hapless victims no longer writhe and scream as the knife cuts into their quivering flesh.

The world build their own monuments.

ALL THAT IS EARTHLY IS SUBJECT TO PAIN

—King Solomon.

The victims of Rheumatism all tell the same story: they have sore, inflamed muscles and stiff, aching joints; they have no ambition or strength and get nervous and irritable, which is not to be wondered at. We realize how much they suffer.

"Nurito," a prescription free from Opium and Narcotics, will banish all aches and pains and limber up those sore and indurated muscles, or your money will be refunded.

We realize that there are worthless and dangerous remedies which are sold as cure-alls by the help of manufactured testimonials, whose object is to extract gold. "Nurito's" purpose is to give relief, and as compared with the same, it is a specific remedy for those who suffer from Rheumatism, Sciatica or Neuritis. Convince yourself. Go to Frank D. Hall, the druggist today, get a $1 box of "Nurito," the remedy that produces results.

Francis Wilson.

In the role of Thomas Beach in his big laughing success, "The Bachelor's Baby," Francis Wilson has undoubtedly the best part he has ever had in comedy. Having written the part himself to suit his own needs, he fitted himself in the most satisfactory manner. The members of Mr. Wilson's supporting company are in the main the same as those who supported him during the previous seasons he has presented "The Bachelor's Baby," many of the members of the company still playing their original parts—the roles they created. PAPER BAG COOKING

Great System Perfected by M. Soyér, Famous London Chef.

COOKING THE LORDLY TURKEY.

By Martha McCulloch Williams. The lord of the winter party or wedding anniversary feast is, of course, the turkey—and know ye, good housewives, one and all, that he can be cooked to a delicious turn by M. Soyér's method of paper bag cooking! In fact, the entire dinner can be prepared and cooked to perfection in paper bags, and after it has been eaten to the last turkey bone and last slice of pumpkin pie, the good housewife will not be confronted by a great pile of pots and pans to be cleaned—a task that has taken the edge off the happiness of many a housewife who has served one of her old-time famous meals for her guests, or her children back home to help the old folks celebrate their anniversary.

Grape fruit, with rum, is, to my mind, the ideal appetizer, but if oysters are insisted upon, put three small raw ones in the middle of the prepared fruit and season with salt, pepper, Worcester sauce and tobacco. Keep the oysters very cold, and add them to the fruit very shortly before serving, thus the two flavors remain distinct to accent rather than to muddle each other.

Salted Nuts.—I made two bags—almonds and pecans—and hereafter shall never buy them ready prepared. The almonds were blanched and dried, the pecans, bought ready hulled, picked over, scalded by pouring boiling water through them in a colander, and instantly dried. Then both were put in thickly-buttered bags, set in a very hot oven for half a minute, then the heat was reduced three-quarters, and the nuts left to brown for ten minutes. They came out crisp and beautiful, needing only a sprinkling of salt.

The Toasted Crackers I prepared were tiny oyster crackers, as fresh as possible. They were put in buttered bags, lightly sprinkled after they were in, with melted butter skimmed clean of froth, then given a tablespoonful of grated Parmesan, which was shaken well through them before sealing the bag. Sealed, it went into a very hot oven, which after two minutes had the heat turned as low as possible. Eight minutes of it made them not quite brown enough—a peep-hole in the bag top assured me of that—so I left them in three minutes longer. A few of them stuck together, but in the main, they looked as good as they tasted.

The Turkey.—Choose him as young, as tender, as fresh as you can. But if by ill chance you must take an old bird, therefore a tough one, then, indeed, you will find in paper bag cooking, succor from the sorrow of toughness. A tough bird will require a lot of grease in the bag with it, also long and slow cooking. But the end will crown the means—he will come forth tender and delicious, also well browned, but not too brown, and simply bursting with juice. Extra care must be taken in trussing him—tie down legs and wings beyond any possibility of springing. Tough fowls have a way of stretching out their joints under the influence of heat, that, without this precaution, may make the legs and wings dangerous to the integrity of the bag.

Get the bird in hand early—the night before if possible. If he comes drawn, so much the better; if in a state of nature, pick, draw and singe at once, taking pains to get off all pinfeathers, and cutting out the oil bag upon the "parson's nose"—otherwise known as the root of the tail feathers. Wash the bird thoroughly in very cold water. If there is the least sour smell, scald out by pouring through boiling soda water, followed by a cold rinse water. Drain well, wipe dry, inside and out, salt very lightly, and hang up in a cold place until morning—outside, unless the temperature is below freezing, or there is danger of thieves, four of two-footed. A city housewife will do well to cover the turkey while thus hanging out with either a loosely fitting grocer's paper bag or a square crash or cheese cloth. This keeps away soot and dust, which, once settled on the skin, defy washing off. Get the stuffing ready before taking in the bird. Dash cold water over and through it before putting in the stuffing, wipe inside and out with a soft, damp cloth, then resalt but very lightly outside and in.

Since the turkey is apt to require the whole oven and long, slow cooking, better put him on early, and take him up before beginning the other things.

COMMUNICATED

We, the officers and members of Licking Lodge No. 62, K. of P., of this city, beg of you to publish in the columns of your paper this our absolute denial of the charges placed against us by the Rev. J. G. Robinson, now holding revival services at the Trinity A. M. E. church.

We wish the public to clearly understand that the Rev. Robinson's accusations charging us with bootlegging, gambling and card playing in our lodge rooms are entirely without foundation. The members of our order are gentlemen and law-abiding citizens, many of whose names appear upon the city's tax duplicate, while the Rev. Robinson and Rev. J. D. White are here living upon the charitable sources of the community. Had either one of them wished to exemplify the teachings and life of our blessed Master they would, (instead of placing the ferocious charges against us) have said, "Go in peace and sin no more."

DAMAGING REPORT ABOUT MISSIONS

Teaching of Missionaries is Morals—Not Christ.

RELIGION NOW AVOIDED.

The I. B. S. A. Foreign Missions Investigation Committee, After Round the World Tour, Report in New York Hippodrome Mass Meeting That a Thousand Times $30,000,000 Would Not Be Sufficient to Convert the World—Nothing Short of Christ's Kingdom Will Do It.

(PASTOR RUSSELL)

New York, March 31.—The International Bible Students Association secured the Hippodrome in which to hear the Report of its Committee on Foreign Missions Investigation. The spacious auditorium was crowded. Prof. F. H. Robison, as Secretary of the Committee, announced that the Report as a whole had been submitted to the Association and was in the printer's hands, to appear in pamphlet form illustrated. It will shortly be procurable at the small price of five cents per copy, postpaid to any address—free to the poor. The conclusion of the Report is in the nature of a Summary, which he read. We note some of its more salient points, as follows:—

Summary of Report.

Oriental Christians are about as sincere, intelligent and earnest as the average of church attendants in Europe and America—few saints.

Christianizing endeavors seem pretty generally to have ceased. Present missionary endeavors are almost exclusively along the line of secular education and medical aid.

There is less need of Academic and Collegiate education, such as the missionaries forward, than for Common Schooling. The general Common School education could best be furnished by the government and along unsectarian lines, after the method followed under the United States' supervision in the Philippine Islands. The tendency of the times in the Orient, as in the Occident, is toward unbelief in any religion.

The Orientals are remarkably tolerant of all religions, and are often perplexed at the missionary competition, and opposition between Christian denominations. They would accept Christianity if it could demonstrate its superiority.

Orientalists are not heathen-savages, but their educated classes include splendid specimens of noble manhood, the moral and intellectual peers of Europeans and Americans. The masses of these people are less vicious, less rude, more kind and considerate than are the masses of Europe and America. Drunkenness and outward immodesty are almost unknown.

Many of the churches are self-sustaining and the Orientals prefer to have them so, as they desire native preachers, and to manage their own affairs.

The very suggestion of the world's conversion is ridiculous to the peoples of the East—including the Missionaries. * * * The interest on $30,000,000, or the principal multiplied a thousand times, would accomplish little except along the lines of secular education—nothing as respects the world's conversion. Nothing short of "the Kingdom of God's dear Son" can meet the issue.

Pastor Russell's Hippodrome Address. "Ask of Me and I will give Thee the heathen for Thine inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for Thy possession."—Psalm II, 8.

The prophetic words, addressed by Jehovah to his Son, the Messiah, continually recurred to my mind as I mingled with and observed the peoples of India, China, Japan and the Philippines during our recent World Tour. Then certain questions came before my mind, which with their answers I will place before you.

The first question was, Why do we call these people heathen? They are not barbarous, not savages, not lawless people. Indeed, long centuries ago, when our forefathers were barbarians, these had much of the civilization which they still retain. But, I said, we call them heathen because the Bible so refers to them. Let us see how and why the Bible uses this term and what is its significance. In Bible usage the word rendered "heathen" is the same as is sometimes rendered nations and Gentiles. For centuries it applied to all peoples outside the little nation of Israel, because that one nation had entered into Covenant-relationship with God, and had become His people, His dominion.

All the other nations, not thus related to God by Covenant, were styled heathen; all the outside nations were aliens, strangers and foreigners from the Covenants and promises made to Israel. And this same term continued to be applicable after the coming of Jesus. Even though the Gospel favor, which was originally offered to the Jews, was later thrown open to Cornelius and all Gentiles, or heathens, only those who accepted its terms, and came into Covenant-relationship with God through the begetting of the Holy Spirit—only these, Israelites indeed, are properly reckoned as members of spiritual Israel, of whom St. Peter tells us, "Ye are a Royal Priesthood, a holy nation, a peculiar people." Consequently all others than Jews and Spiritual Israelites are heathens, whether they live in the Orient or the Occident.

Two Civilizations Contrasted. Our second question was, On the whole, to what extent is our Western civilization, which is often called Christian civilization, superior to that of the East?

Considerable could be said in favor of each. We who have been accustomed from childhood to Western methods, customs, dress, etc., prefer our own, but the Eastern peoples evidently prefer their own, and are loath to change to ours. They are, however, now passively admitting the superiority of ours in that they are gradually adopting our schooling system, military system, naval system and voting system.

But in our contrasting the two civilizations, are we not apt to forget that the very features of our civilization, which are now being accepted as superior in the East, are comparatively new to ourselves? Where were our public schools and compulsory education a century ago? It is only twenty years ago that Great Britain adopted the present method. Where were our railroads, which they are now adopting? Let us remember that there was not a rail in the world, nor a locomotive, nor a car, a hundred years ago.

The East is rapidly introducing telegraphy, the telephone, the wireless system, the electric railways; but how long have we had these in the West? Less than a century—some of them for only ten years. Viewing the matter from this standpoint should help to keep us of the West quite humble when we think of and speak of the awakening in the East—in China, Japan, etc.

To What Extent Has "Christian Civilization" Blessed the World?

That Christ's teachings have brought great blessings wherever they have been received is, we hold, beyond dispute. Individuals have been blessed by the precious truth of Christianity—rich and poor, of every nation, kindred and tongue. To these the Gospel Message has brought peace with God through faith in the Lord Jesus Christ and the salvation provided through Him. To these the instruction of the Bible and the guidance of the Holy Spirit have brought the fruitage of the Spirit. To these it has brought "the peace of God, which passeth all understanding," ruling in their hearts at all times, and under all conditions—whether "in sickness or health, in poverty's vale, or abounding in wealth."

But our question does not relate to these saintly followers of the teachings of Jesus, who walk in His footsteps. Our question is in respect to the civilization which identifies itself with Christianity, without accepting the terms of discipleship. Has this civilization brought to the masses of Europe and America great blessing, and, if it be, extended to the far East, will it prove a blessing to the hundreds of millions there?

If larger houses, better streets and sewers, better water supplies, better clothing, better schools, etc., are bringing to the people of Europe and America more joy, more peace, more happiness, more contentment, more kindness, more usefulness in the present life and more preparation for the life to come, then our Western civilization is a blessing to us, and would doubtless prove a blessing to the far East.

But has it brought these blessings? Alas, no! As far as our observations in China and Japan go, we are led to believe that their peoples are far happier, far more contented, than the peoples of Europe and America. We are not blaming this upon Christianity, mark you—we have not yet said why it is so. We are merely noting facts, which must be manifest to everyone who has seen the two in contact.

A Reason For This. Our fourth question was, Why is it so? What peculiarities are connected with Christian civilization or the Christian teachings which produce such diverse results—bringing one class, the saintly followers of Jesus, into the utmost peace and joy, and bringing others, the masses who are merely nominal Christians, into this most unsatisfactory and unhappy condition of any people in the world, even when they are enjoying greater blessings and luxuries than the majority?

There is but one answer to this question: It is because the teachings of Christ carry with them a broadening of mind, an emancipation from superstition, a spirit of liberty. True, there were Dark Ages, during which many so-called Christian superstitions prospered. But such superstitions were not the teachings of Jesus and His Apostles, but the misrepresentations of their teachings. Those superstitions did indeed for a time make the people of Europe drowsy, and it was the custom of such religious teachers to restrain human thought and to fetter and bedevil the intellects over which they had influence.

We are not discussing such conditions, but merely the general influence of the teachings of Jesus and the Apostles and the Prophets of old. The discontent which we are noting began to come to Europe at the very time when the Bible was brought out from obscurity. It is the teachings of the Bible that have had the enlightening effect upon all the nations which have been in contact with them. It is the Bible's teachings that have brought the special rest to some hearts, and the special discontent to others—the masses. This is the answer. The Bible alone, of all religious books, sets forth promnently the equality of all men before the Almighty God. This thought once grasped breaks all fetters of the mind. But all are not prepared for such liberty—some evidently would enjoy great peace and would be more quiet, more reverential and more submissive if they continued bound with a measure of superstition, than if the truth should make them free.

The only persons who can rightly appreciate and properly enjoy full liberty are those who have made a full consecration of themselves to the Lord—those who have given over all earthly ambitions and favors to the one great ambition of the Gospel of Christ—to become heirs of God and joint-heirs with Jesus Christ their Lord. Those only can be fully entrusted with liberty who have realized the imperfection of all human judgment, and who have accepted instead of their own the Divine will. This is the class of whom St. Paul spoke, saying, "We have the mind of Christ," and this he declares is the only "spirit of a sound mind" in the world at the present time.

Nevertheless, some of the saintly people are disesteemed by many of the worldly-minded who are moving heaven and earth at home and abroad to amass wealth, power and fame for themselves, their families, their friends, their names, none of whom are content, none of whom are satisfied, none of whom are at peace, either with God or with themselves. Who can doubt that the carrying of our western civilization to the people of the east will carry to them similar discontent, unrest, unhappiness, anger, malice, envy, hatred and strife which is peculiar to the Occident? But most likely the effect of the Western civilization of the Chinese will be to wake up her hundreds of millions to discontent and strife, and possibly bring anarchy to her doors, sooner than it will come to Europe and America.

"Ask and I Will Give the Heathen."

But our text declares that if Messiah will ask of the Father, He will be given the heathen for an inheritance, and the uttermost parts of the earth for His possession. Will He ask for them? Why has He not already asked for them, and what would He do with them, and would not His dealing with them have much the same influence that the Gospel Message now produces—to make them dissatisfied?

Our Lord intimates most distinctly His reason for not asking for the heathen at the first advent. In His prayer the same night in which He was betrayed to death He said, "I pray not for the world (the heathen), but for those whom thou hast given Me"—the household of faith, His footstep followers, "the Church of the First-born, whose names are written in heaven."

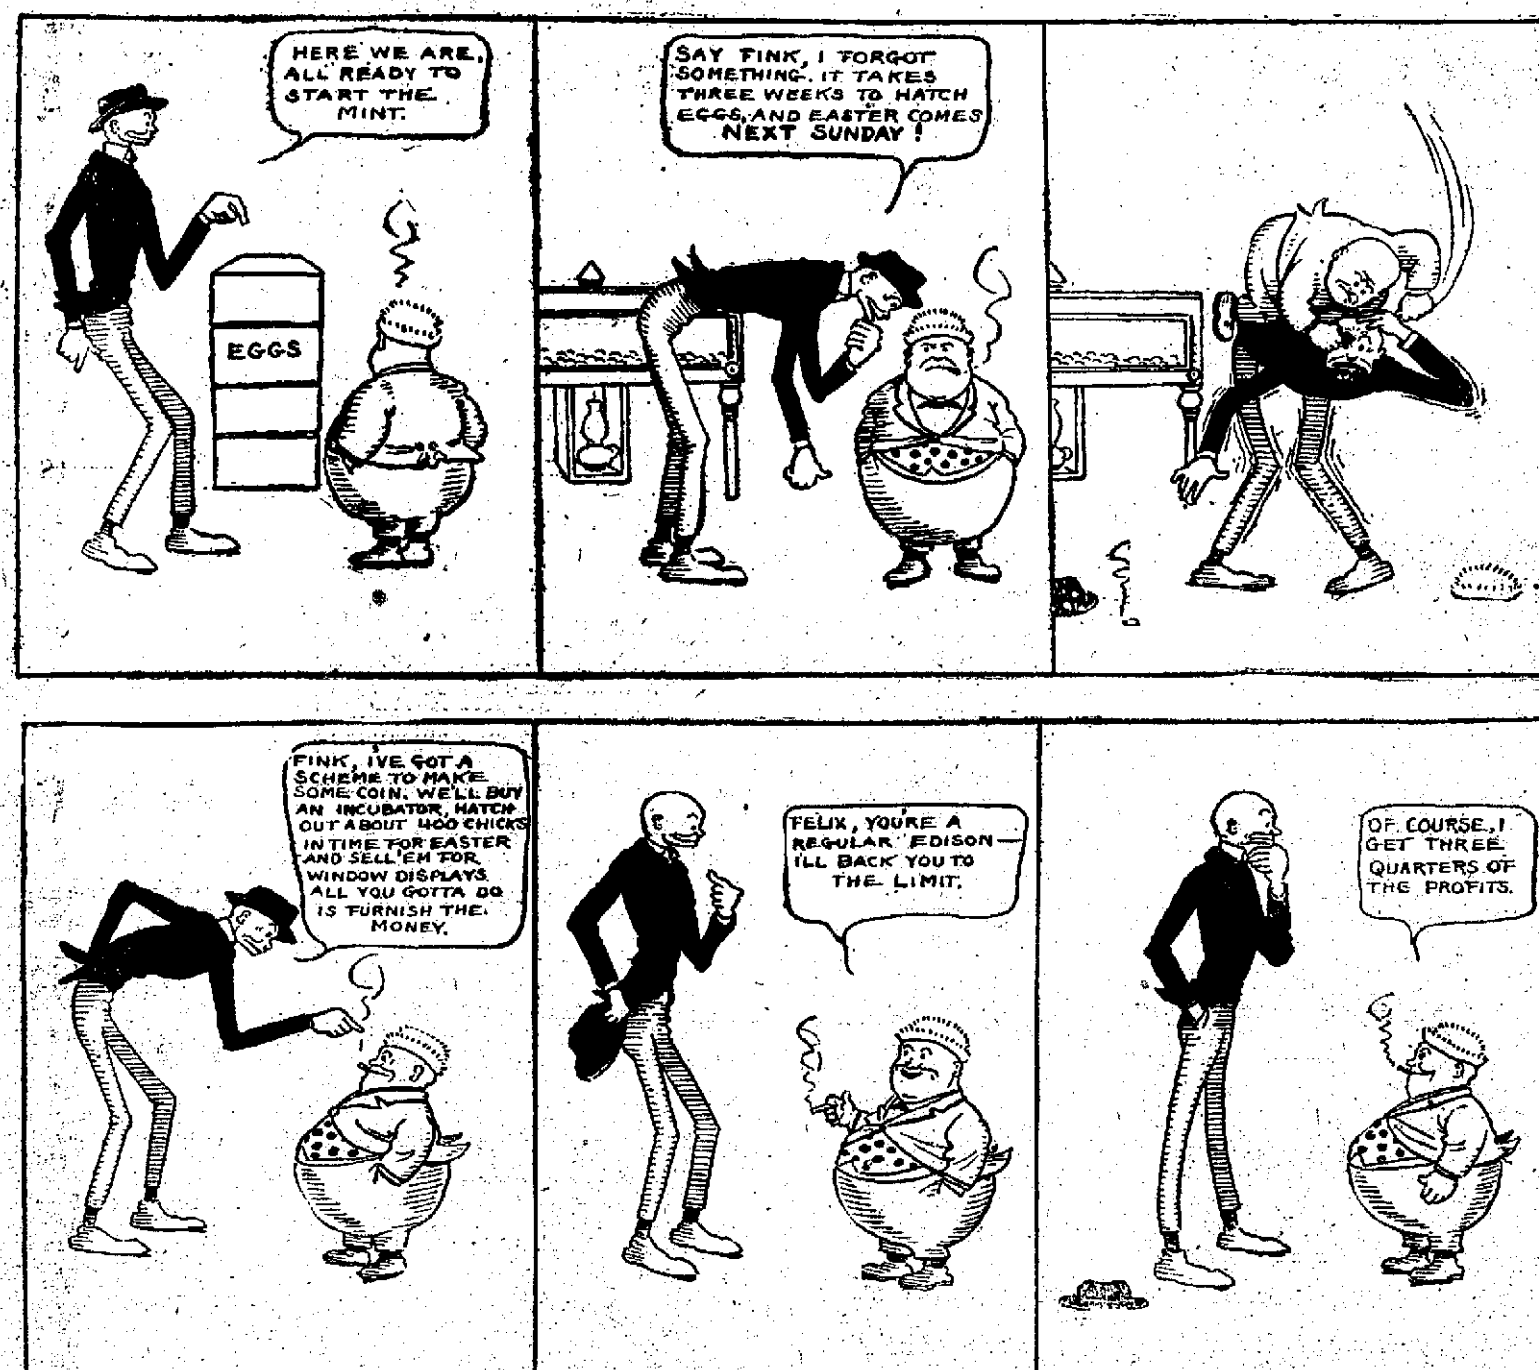

The Redeemer knew the Father's will and prayed only in harmony therewith. He knew that the first work of the Divine Plan was to be the calling and testing of an elect "little flock," to be His associates in the Kingdom, His Bride, to share with Him His glory, honor and immortality. He asked not then for the world, knowing that the Father's time had not then come. Hence we read that He ascended up on high and sat down at the right hand of the Divine Majesty, henceforth waiting for the time when His enemies would be made His footstool, and the Gentiles be given to Him for an inheritance; and He knew that this time would not come until first His Church had been developed.

At and shortly after Pentecost all the faithful of the nation of Israel, Israelites indeed, were begotten of the Holy Spirit that they might become members of spiritual Israel, the Bride class. As there was not a sufficiency of such Jews, the Divine Plan, as previously arranged, proceeded to call and test such of the heathen as were feeling after God and seeking after His righteousness. The entire work has required the intervening time, and now at the close of the six great days of human labor and sweat of face and sorrow and dying, the great seventh thousand-year day is about to be ushered in. It is the period already appointed of the Father for Messiah's reign of righteousness, in which the Bride of Christ will reign with Him.

The End of the Matter. My next question was, What will be the end of this long reign of ignorance, superstition, sin and death? The Bible's answer came quickly to my mind: The Divine promise is that Messiah's Kingdom will be successful, that it will bring in an abundance of peace, that "to Him every knee shall bow and every tongue shall confess." Moreover, we are assured that this will be a bowing of sincere loyalty and obedience, because the context says that it shall be to the glory of God, and no other kind of bowing and confessing would glorify God. Then came the further assurance of the Bible to my mind: St. Peter's declaration, that "Times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord, and He shall send Jesus Christ, which before was preached unto you, whom the heavens must retain until the times of restitution of all things which God has spoken by the mouth of all the holy Prophets."—Acts III, 19-21.

I also remembered the promise that the Redeemer would yet see the fruition of the travail of His soul and be satisfied. I remembered that assurance which He also gave, saying, "Every creature in heaven and in earth and under the earth heard I saying, Praise, glory, honor, dominion and might to Him that sitteth on the Throne, and to the Lamb, forever." I remembered also His final testimony, that eventually, There shall be no more sighing, no more crying, no more dying, because all "the former things" of sin and death will have passed away.

BILLY SUNDAY GIVEN $17,000 IN WHEELING

Wheeling, W. Va., April 1.—Billy Sunday, the evangelist, was about $17,000 richer when he left here last night after six weeks' revival. Fourteen hundred and twenty-one people were converted during the last day, the total being $424 in the six weeks. Men and women fairly fought for admission to the big tabernacle at the last three meetings, no fewer than 30,000 having succeeded in hearing the evangelist on the final day. The total attendance for six weeks of the revival was not short of 525,000.

The total collections for revival expenses amounted to $12,544.20, a sum sufficient to pay all obligations, while the special collection for Sunday was about $17,000.

With the exception of something like 1,000 children who "hit the trail" on children's day, the converts are adults, and fully one-half of the whole number drawn from the more prominent walks of life.

At great variance with the weather conditions of a week ago Sunday when a snow storm and blizzard swept the city the balmy breezes of spring fairly warded people from their homes on the last day of March. The picture shows were crowded from the opening to the closing show.
